Vendor guide

For: placement vendors who submit candidates to AAPNA Infotech. Version: October 2026.

You have two screens: Dashboard, which shows where your candidates are, and Upload Candidate, where you send resumes. You see only the candidates you submitted.

1. Signing in

- AAPNA's recruitment team creates your account; you receive your sign-in details by email.
- Sign in with your email (or username) and password. Use Forgot password? if needed, or change it any time: your picture (top right) → Change Password.

2. Uploading candidates

1. Open Upload Candidate.
2. Drag resumes onto the box, or click it. Accepted: .pdf, .docx, or a .zip of several resumes.
3. Click Upload Resumes. Each file is read automatically; the list below updates live.

| Status | Meaning |
|---|---|
| Processing | Being read |
| Saved to Database | Accepted as a new candidate |
| Pending Recruiter Review | This person may already be in AAPNA's database. A recruiter will decide; you don't need to do anything |
| Rejected by System | No email address or phone number was found in the resume. Send a resume with contact details |
| Processing Failed | The file couldn't be read. Try again, or send it to your AAPNA contact |

The 90-day rule. A candidate you submit is yours for 90 days. If another vendor submits the same person in that time, their upload waits for a recruiter and your claim stands. After 90 days, a new submission can take over.

Make sure each resume has the candidate's own email and phone number. Without them the upload is rejected, and AAPNA can't contact the candidate.

3. Following your candidates

Dashboard shows your submissions: totals, how many are shortlisted, in interviews, on hold, rejected or hired, and a list with each candidate's current stage. Hover over the ⓘ next to a number to see what it counts.

You also receive an email when your candidate's status changes at each stage (shortlisted, moved on, on hold, rejected, closed). These emails carry the status only: never interview feedback, salary details or documents. At the offer stage you are told there is a milestone; at the documents stage you get no email.
